Portfolio Managers Market Commentary

Global markets exhibited a sense of cautious but renewed optimism through August. Equities in most regions delivered gains in local currency terms, supported by signs of resilient economic activity and a softer tone from central banks. However, for sterling-based investors, returns were tempered by currency moves, as GBP strength against the U.S. dollar, among other currencies, eroding translated equity performance.

Japan was the standout among developed market equity regions, with the MSCI Japan Index gaining 4.8% in sterling. Improving economic momentum, underpinned by encouraging second-quarter GDP growth and stronger machinery orders, combined with a positive trade agreement with the United States to bolster sentiment. European equities posted more modest returns, with the MSCI Europe ex-UK Index up 1.3%. Political turbulence in France, where the announcement of a vote of no confidence unsettled markets, weighed on performance, though improving business activity offered reassurance that growth is stabilising.

In the UK, the FTSE 100 rose 0.6%, supported by its global exposure, while the more domestically focused FTSE 250 fell as concerns over the UK economy persisted. The Bank of England cut interest rates by 25 basis points, but stronger-than-expected inflation data tempered the effect, with policymakers stressing that inflation risks remain.

Across U.S. markets, the S&P 500 declined 0.2% in GBP terms. However, in local currency terms, returns were positive, supported by robust earnings and solid momentum across sectors, with weakness in the dollar dragging on translated performance.

Similarly, Asian and emerging markets equities advanced in local terms, with relief coming from an extension of the U.S. - China trade truce, while Chinese technology stocks gained on Beijing's new semiconductor strategy. Again, it was strength in sterling that eroded gains across both regions.

Fixed income markets delivered mixed results. Global corporate bonds generally outperformed their sovereign counterparts, with credit spreads tightening as healthy earnings boosted confidence in balance sheets. U.S. Treasuries were volatile: early weakness on deficit concerns gave way to recovery after dovish remarks from Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell at Jackson Hole, which also pressured the dollar lower.

Looking ahead, familiar themes continue to shape markets: the pace of central bank easing, the trajectory of inflation, and the resilience of global growth. Diversification across regions and asset classes remains key, with opportunities in equities, selective credit, and risk-aware real assets.

Against this backdrop, portfolios delivered positive returns, with equities - particularly allocations to Japan and global small caps - acting as the primary performance drivers. Our overweight exposure to Japanese equities benefitted, with the HSBC Japan Index gaining 4.5%, significantly ahead of all other holdings. Once again, overweight exposure to smaller companies also added value, with the Vanguard Global Small Cap Index gaining 3.0%.

Elsewhere, real asset exposures provided mixed results, with rising long term bond yields weighing on returns from the abrdn Global Infrastructure Tracker, while strong corporate earnings led to gains in the abrdn Global REIT Tracker. Within fixed income, the portfolio's overweight positioning in short-duration and credit-focused strategies was once again advantageous.
